

This thesis is about home care of oncological patients. The thesis is divided into two parts. First part deals with all aspects of home palliative care. The second part presents results of the action research. The questionnaire investigate with how are the oncological patients and their family informed about home care.